Stop the Presses! Big News!

Okay, well, you already knew this was coming if you read my email on May 28 – which managed to sneak out a day early. So maybe you missed it....

Anyway, just in case you missed it, here's the reason why I'm sending you this email today. A bunch of us got together to celebrate Pride month and decided to offer you books for free! Well, mostly free – you have to join mailing lists to get the books, but you don't pay for the mailing list, so the book is free – and you can always unsubscribe anytime. Let me say that again, I see a few sleepyheads in the back didn't hear me the first time. (Morticia, you might want to step back from the speakers a bit....)

FREE BOOKS!

That's right! For this month, I'm joining a group of authors offering books for virtually nothing—just your email. You'll notice that the cover for Benji's Bayou Birthday Bash—the book I am again offering—has changed. Please note that the only change is the cover. You don't need to download the book again, unless you just want to—I won't argue (and I'll try to keep from sending you all the “welcome” emails all over again)!

One more thing before we're done. Dan Levy, an incredible audiobook narrator for a lot of my fellow authors, has started a website with his child in support of Trans Kids. They've designed some really great shirts which would be GREAT for Pride (or anytime) and it all supports trans rights. Please visit <https://609design.com> and check the designs out! I'm getting ready to order some myself....

On that note, I'll pop out of here. See you at the regularly scheduled next newsletter! (As a reminder, that's June 18; for you music people, that's Sir Paul McCartney's birthday. Just sayin'....

As always, if you decide you're not happy here, just hit the Unsubscribe link below, and no hard feelings... but there's a lot of fun yet to come, so I hope you'll stick around! Remember to check my website, <https://jamesweems.com>, for all the Pride celebrations around the world—let me know if I'm missing any. Happy Pride, One and All!
